

BNPM Policy for Prevention, prohibition and redressal for Sexual Harassment at workplace

➤ Preface:

The Supreme Court of India in its 1997 judgement in Vishaka and others Vs. State of Rajasthan and others made it obligatory for every employer and other responsible person to follow the guidelines laid down by the court and to evolve a specific policy to combat sexual harassment in workplace. The Sexual Harassment of Woman at workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act 2013 has also been notified by Government of India along with The Sexual Harassment of Woman at workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Rules 2013. The company is also bound by the aforementioned directive.

The aforementioned laws only cover the sexual harassment against women. However, BNPM aims at treating every employee, irrespective of the gender, with dignity and respect. BNPM intends to promote a work environment that is conducive to the professional growth of its employees. Hence BNPM adopts and implements the Prevention, prohibition and redressal for Sexual Harassment at workplace (PPRSH) policy giving equal treatment to both women and male employees as an ideal employer.

➤ Objectives

Under the corporate umbrella, harassment of any kind including sexual harassment affecting the dignity of men and women at work is forbidden. Every employee has the right to be protected against harassment, regardless of whether the accused considers his or her own behaviour to be normal or acceptable and or whether the harassed person has the opportunity to avoid the harassment. BNPM is committed to providing a work environment which is free from sexual harassment.

The BNPM PPRSH Policy has been formulated to prohibit, prevent or deter the commission of acts of sexual harassment at workplace and to provide the procedure for the redressal of complaints pertaining to sexual harassment.

BNPM PPRSH Policy neither releases employees from their duty of confidentiality in the course of their work nor can it be used as a route for raising malicious or unfounded allegations against people in authority and / or colleagues in general.

➤ Applicability

The Policy applies to all categories of employees of the company, including permanent, management, workmen, trainees, probationers and contract employees of all cadres at its workplace or outside on official duty.

While sexual harassment occurs to those who are covered under the policy, as a result of an act by a third party or outsider while on official duty, BNPM will take all necessary and reasonable steps to assist the affected person in terms of support and preventive action.

This Policy comes into force with immediate effect.
